MISS M'PHERSON IS KEPT ALIVE BY SURGERY

By a strange impulse, according to the Herald, mother and daughter went to Venice Sunday, returning on the street car that ran down and killed Miss Amy Lang near Gramercy place. The dread sight affected them both and neither could sleep soundly. Their nervousness probably was the cause of the folding up of the bed. The fifth section of the daughter's vertebrae was dislocated, producing paralysis below the line of the bruise, which was plainly visible on her neck. If the spinal cord was torn death will ensue, probably soon.

Regarding the MacPhersons' connection with Salt Lake the Herald says:

"The MacPhersons came here from Salt Lake City, it is said, a year ago, and took apartments at Hill street four months ago. Mrs. MacPherson was anxious to have her daughter take a course in dressmaking, and went to this apartment because it seemed convenient for the purpose. The mother owns property the purpose. #### DOG WILL TROUBLE NEIGHBORS NO MORE

While riding a bicycle along West Fourth North street Friday afternoon Don Lenzi, an employee of the Salt Lake Telegram, was attacked and badly bitten on the right leg by a vicious dog belonging to Petrus P. Peterson, a bartender at the Eagle Gate saloon, and living at 533 West Fourth North. Lenzi, accompanied by an officer, went to the Peterson residence yesterday afternoon. They were met at the gate by Mrs. Peterson, who begged the officer not to kill the dog around the house, but if he would send the dog-catcher she would surrender it. Neighbors say that this is not the first offense of this dog, it having attacked several persons in the neighborhood lately. The dog catcher called later in the afternoon and took the dog where he will trouble the neighborhood no more.

POLICE ARE LOOKING FOR H. PRUESSING

He Comes to Town, Passes Bad Checks and Goes Right Out Again.

A man signing the name of H. Pruessing, supposed to be a Dutchman, is wanted by the authorities for issuing and passing fictitious checks. Pruessing came here from no one appears to know where two or three days ago, and Saturday succeeded in passing a check that he made all by himself for $24 upon the Nickel-Plate restaurant. He also attempted to pass a similar check, worth only the paper it was written on, with a saloon keeper in the neighborhood of the restaurant, but he failed. Detective Chase of the local police department has been put upon Pruessing's trail. Pruessing's trail.

Pruessing ate several times in his short stay here at the restaurant above named. Saturday morning he presented a check to the management of the restaurant, with a request that it be cashed for him. The management declined, but advanced him $5 about 9 o'clock Saturday morning upon the check. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon Pruessing returned and got the o'clock Saturday morning upon the check. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon Pruessing returned and got the remainder of the $24 on the check.

Directly after Pruessing had taken his departure with the $24 for a worthless bit of paper, the saloon-keeper mentioned came in and "put the restaurant wise" to Pruessing, telling that the latter had been his place of business, asking him to cash a similar check. The saloon-keeper didn't like the looks of the check, and thereby saved $24. Some of the persons connected with the bank upon which the check was drawn, the Commercial National, happened to be in the restaurant at that time, and set all doubts at rest as to the fictitiousness of the checks. Then the police were notified. The check is upon blue paper and purports to be drawn in favor of H. Pruessing by the Superior Baking company, per T. H. Swanson. On the back of the check is indorsed "H. Pruessing," in handwriting wonderfully like that on the face. The indications are that "Pruessing" has left town.

PREPARING TO FIGHT MAIL ORDER BUSINESS

Men Representing All Lines of Retail Trade in Conference at the Wilson.

Business men representing nearly all branches of local retail trade held a meeting at the Wilson hotel Saturday afternoon to consider the mail order question and, if possible, to devise means for dealing with this class of competition. It was the manifestation of the wave of opposition to mail or der concerns which is sweeping over der concerns which is sweeping over the country and the speakers were em-phatic in their assertion that this class of trade is not legitimate competition, but is merely a will-of-the-wisp when it is rightly understood.

The theme of the entire meeting, therefore, was the necessity of educa-tion in the matter of mail order meth-ods and the speakers warmed their each ods and the speakers urged their audi-tors to study the catalogues in which their articles of trade are listed, to ortheir articles of trade are listed, to or-der samples of the various kinds of goods and famillarize themselves with the catalogue prices. They maintained that, with the exception of the arti-cles used by the mail order houses, the goods marketed by these concerns is inferior to that sold by local dealers at the same price and urged the retail merchants to keep samples of the mail merchants to keep samples of the mail order goods on hand to impress this on the minds of their patrons.

As has been indicated, the meeting was brought about by men who are making a fight on the mail order business. It was held behind closed doors and the names of the speakers have not been made known, but it was said that they are Eastern retail business men and are touring the country for the purpose of holding these meetings. They informed the local retail business men that the mail order competition is not as keen here as in the East and were optimistic concerning the outwere optimistic concerning the out-look. Incidentally they called atten-tion to the establishing of savings de-partments by the mail order houses, a feature which was looked upon as a novelty by the local business men.

PECULIAR REASON FOR PUNCHING HIS BROTHER

Thomas Wesley Moser of this city was arrested by Policeman Harris Saturday afternoon for alleged battery on his brother, George Moser, at a dance at Lagoon. The sheriff of Davis county came and took Moser back to Farmington for a hearing. Moser, the defendant, attempted to keep his brother from dancing with his sister, who has been in the reform school, it is claimed, and had to resort to the use of his fists to accomplish his purpose. Dancing, it was thought, would be injurious to the sister. Moser poked his brother one in the ear before the latter desisted from compelling the sister to dance with him, it is charged.

CRISIS EXPECTED

Three More Conferences Held to Discuss the Strike of Linemen.

ANOTHER GABFEST IS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

Grand President McNulty Is Anxious to Go on to San Francisco.

The crisis in the attempt at a setlement of the strike between the linemen and the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company that prevails throughout the intermountsin district, comprised of the states of Utah, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, is expected today or tomorrow. The prospects for a settlement did not appear to be everly bright late Saturday night but nearly all concerned were hopeful of today's developments.

COUNTY ATTORNEY WILLARD HANSON has appointed R. A. McBroom a temporary deputy in his office to take the place of Job P. Lyon, who is away

Three conferences were held between representatives of the strikers and the company Saturday, one in the morning, another in the afternoon and a third in the evening, but nothing of importance in the way of a settlement was accomplished by either meeting. The sum total of the three meetings showed no progress of moment toward an adjustment. The negotiations are to be justment. The negotiations are to be continued at a conference today, beginning at 11 o'clock this morning.

Although Grand President F. J. McNulty of New York, who has been here six days engaged in entrying forward negotiations, did not say as much, his tone, in speaking of the several conferences held since he came, was indicative of dissatisfaction at the lack of progress being made. Said he late of progress being made. Said he late Saturday night: 'So far we have been unable to arrive at an agreement or at any discussion of a proposed basis of settlement. Most of the conferences have dealt with the past. But I think we may have some different and more important news after Sunday's conferonce. The meetings have been most amicable."

The meetings Saturday were attended by the same officers practically that represented each side at the previous meet-ings. Mr. McNulty indicated Saturday night that he may go on to San Fran-cisco at once if the conference today fails of important developments. From fails of important developments. From what is gleaned from the outside, apparently the negotiations have failed to reach bedrock so far. If the present attempts at a settlement fail there is no telling when an adjustment may be reached, if ever. If no settlement is made the strike will have to be marked up as a decisive victory for the telephone company.

Just what developments are expected from today's conference are not known precisely but there is hope that if a settlement is not effected the meeting will be productive of something indicative of an adjustment. Judging from statements from each side the meeting today is expected to bring a break or reach such a stage in the negotiations that a such a stage in the negotiations that a settlement will be practically assured.

B. Diehl of the criminal division of the city court Saturday morning, and was admitted to bail in the sum of $250, which he furnished Norton has retained Soren X. Christenson to defend him. Norton probably will plead self-defense, as he claims that the soldier drew a knife. The case likely will come up again on Monday morning. The trouble occurred at the Bingham buffet on Commercial street.

at the Bingham buffet on Commercial street.

E. Bawer, who made the air discordant with howls and shrieks at his arrest Friday evening, lost his memory in police court Saturday morning. He could not recollect when he was up for intoxication the last time, but thought it was about a week ago. Judge Diehl gave him three days in the city jail to recover his memory.

Joseph Smith, charged with stealing a wheel, will be investigated as to his mental condition. Judge Diehl Saturday continued the larceny case against Smith until Monday for that purpose, following the suggestion of Assistant City Attorney P. J. Daly. It also is alleged that Smith stole a horse, saddle and bridle.

Jano Doe Smith of Draper "stubbed her toe," figuratively speaking. Jane pleaded on a charge of intoxication before Judge Diehl Saturday morning. "You see, I stubbed my toe, judge. I didn't take much. Give me another chance—" Jane got her chance—to leave the city, and ought to be, if she isn't, on her way home now.

Nine o'clock a. m. is too early for Nellie Brown and Bessie King to get up. In the afternoon at 1 or 2 o'clock is about right for them. They were witnesses in the case against John Brown for the alleged stealing of a wheel but failed to appear at 9 Saturday morning and an attachment was issued that found them in bed when it was served. The judge said "contempt of court" and each was fined $2. Brown was released on his own recognizance when they failed to appear and his case likely will come up Monday morning.

Mrs. Guy Cappucio had a supernatural "hunch" as to where to find the diamond pin valued at $30 that Anna Mesich, wife of the alleged murderer of Herman Obradovitch, is charged with stealing from her. "Something told me to go up to Mrs. Mesich's room," she testified in police court Saturday morning, and search for the pin. I went straight to her room, looked under the lining of her coat, and found the pin." The case was delayed because of the absence of a material witness.

The real estate included in the inventory filed by Mrs. Salisbury Saturday includes a lot near Third East and Ninth South, part of a lot near Third South and Seventh East, part of two lots on Fourth South street between Main and State, and an undivided half interest in a lot on Fourth South between Main and West Temple. The value of the whole estate, consisting of both real and personal property, is given as $300,000, but the separate value of each piece of property is not given.

The heirs are the widow and three children, a sister, two nieces and a nephew of the deceased. The estate has yet to be appraised by the appraisers named by the District court and those named by the State, whose duty it is to fix the value of the property for inheritance tax purposes.
